STRANGLES

Strangles, or distemper as it is often called in North America, is a contagious pus-forming abscess of the throat area.

This disease only affects horses and while it can range from mild to severe, is not a major killer. Although it tends to affect the younger horse from weanling to five years, it can affect any equine. The infection is passed among horses by contamination from nasal discharges. Water troughs, pastures, feed, corrals, trailers, fences, etc. may become contaminated and remain sources of infection, even if horses are not present for almost a month. Horses can spread the infection for at least four weeks after a clinical attack of strangles.

INDICATIONS OF STRANGLES

It takes from three to eight days for the first sign to appear which is generally a reluctance to eat, or drink, — it's a bit like you getting a bad case of flu! His throat is sore and as the swelling increases it is more difficult for him to swallow or reach his feed, even if he did feel like eating. His temperature can range from 103 to 105 F. The nasal discharge starts clear and runny and later becomes thick and yellow. Some horses will develop swelling in the legs or "tying up". A moist, painful cough is usually present.

HOW TO TREAT IT

It is no doubt wise to call your vet and have him advise his treatment for your particular horse. You should be aware, however, of the controversy on treatment for this disease which has been going on for some time.

Before the advent of antibiotics, the treatment was to firstly isolate the animal, keep it warm, and encourage the throat swelling to enlarge and break. This whole process could take around 15 days. Once the animal has had strangles he is then immune to further attacks for the rest of his life.

Once antibiotics came on the scene, horses were generally treated with it with varying results. Some were treated and dosed heavily with penicillin at the first signs of infection and others were treated after the abscess had burst.

VET STUDY

A veterinary professor at the University of Kentucky, Dr. T. W. Swerczek, provided some startling examples of the over-use of antibiotics at a 1979 convention of vets, in Florida. He claimed that the results of his research indicates that at least three puzzling bacterial diseases become complicated because of the use of antibiotics and disinfectants. He studied strangles and after injecting a number of healthy experimental horses with S.equi, recorded the course of the infection without treatment. Temperature increases began on the fifth day and fever continued until the 15th day. Temperatures ranged from 103-105 deg. F. In six to seven days after the initial infection a nasal discharge began and persisted for 20 days.

The lumph nodes of the head and neck began to swell eight to nine days post infection and continued for 20 days. The experimental horses threw off the disease on their own in about 30 days — without treatment.

In a second part of the experiment, horses were injected in the same way with the strangles organism. This time, treatment with various antibiotics at various times during the course of the disease was given. He found that when antibiotics were given after the lymph glands began to swell, all healing stopped. The disease continued as long as antibiotics were administered.

Dr. Swerczek said that penicillin given prior to swelling of the glands was effective in reducing the severity of the disease, but that some other antibiotics caused development of "bastard" strangles with abscesses in unusual areas of the body that severely endangered the life of the horse. His conclusion was, "Do not give antibiotics to horses showing symptoms of strangles."

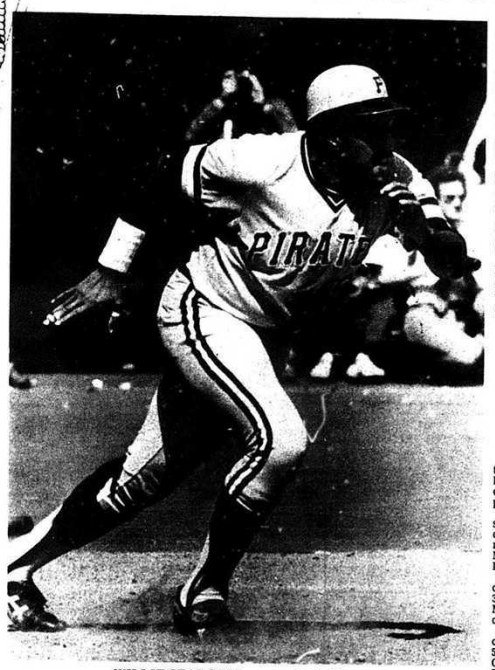

My own experiences bear this out. We isolated a yearling colt that developed the symptoms. Only one member of staff went into his box and she changed boots and coat each time, leaving one set in the stall. All utensils, grooming equipment, etc. were disinfected. As it was spring and chilly, we rugged the colt up but kept his no-draft windows open for fresh air. He was treated for about 48 hours with hot compresses to the throat area which enlarged the glands and the abscess formed and burst.

The wound was cleansed with lightly salted water (no disinfectants, as this could damage tissue) and he was then put on a course of penicillin and recovered in about three weeks. We then turned him out to pasture, but well away from the other horses for another month.

Fortunately none of our other 60 horses caught it as this colt was a new purchase and had been isolated for the usual three week period on arrival as was always our practice. He had developed the symptoms during this time. Although he was quite sick and he lost weight and looked awful for a while, he soon recovered and later became Champion Cleveland Bay Stallion in England.

JUNIOR TEAM HOSTS BINGO

Centennials edge Lakers

WILLIE STARGELL . . . coming to Vernon

Merritt Centennials shaded Vernon Lakers 5-4 in B.C. Junior Hockey League action Tuesday night in Merritt.

The game had been scheduled Dec. 20, but was postponed when Lakers' bus developed mechanical trouble on the way to Merritt.

GOOD EFFORT

Despite the club's seventh consecutive loss, Vernon Coach Gary Criss praised his players. "We got quite an effort from everyone. We went over there with just 11 skaters, Merritt tried to intimidate us, and we didn't back down."

Dan DeJager, Mark Blondin, Fritz Maier, Dwaine Jurreit, and Rich Norberg scored for the Centennials.

Kevin Poirier, Jerry Panjac, Dean Hascarl, and newcomer Lee Robbins replied for Lakers.

NEW DEFENCEMAN

Robbins, a defenceman, was the final player cut by Regina Blues, of the Saskatchewan Junior 'A' League. And Criss likes what he has seen of the Kamloops native.

"Robbins isn't afraid to mix it up," Criss said. "He has been with us two games . . . and had two fights. I've got him playing with Gord (Olsen) and he is doing a good job."

Vernon netminder Mark Lang had his second straight great game. Lang made 47 saves while Dale Cresswell blocked 43 shots at the other end of the rink.

The teams were tied 1-1 at the end of the first period and Cents held a 3-2 edge after 40 minutes.

IN PENTICTON

Lakers are back in action Friday, in Penticton, against the Knights. Vernon hopes to have defenceman Les Creelman in the line-up for that game. Creelman, who quit three weeks ago, has decided to return to the team.

Meanwhile, Lakers are hosting a giant bingo Thursday, at the Vernon Recreation Complex.

At least $3,000 in cash prizes will be awarded, including three, $500 games.

Doors open at 6 p.m., with an early bird game at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $5, including one card. Additional cards are $1.

A concession will be operated by Vernon Minor Hockey Association.

Teams pledge money

Two sports teams are among the latest groups to support Daily News Sports Editor Don Kendall in his Snowarama campaign.

Proceeds from Snowarama, scheduled Sunday, go to B.C. crippled children. The 100-mile ride will be held on Silver Star Mountain, in the Ganzeveld Loop area.

Vernon Moonshiners oldtimers hockey team pledged 30 cents per mile and Fulton Maroons basketball team has donated 25 cents per mile.

Other pledges this week have come from: Downtown Realty 50 cents per mile, Vercom Cable-TV 50 cents, Nolan's Drugs, 20 cents, Vintage House 15 cents, Beaude's Radiator 10 cents, Vernon Turbo 5 cents, Brian Willows 10 cents, Dave Caldow 5 cents, and Bill Jones 5 cents.

Total amount pledged on Kendall to date is $31.17 per mile . . . for a $3117 total.

Pledges can be phoned to 545-0671, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The event is co-sponsored by the Lion's Club and Vernon Snowmobile Association.

REMEMBER WHEN

By The Canadian Press

Gene Tunney won his first boxing title 59 years ago today — in 1922 — by outpointing Battling Levinsky in 12 rounds to win the U.S. light-heavyweight crown. He lost it to Harry Greb four months later, regained it the following year and then entered the heavyweight ranks. Tunney won the world heavyweight title from Jack Dempsey in 1926, and retired undefeated in 1928.

Seaton to host tourney

Seaton Sonics and Sonnettes will host a junior basketball tournament this weekend.

Teams from Westsyde (Kamloops), Penticton, Kelowna, and Vernon (Fulton and Kal) are entered in the two-day event.

Sonnettes, who boast a 13-1 record, placed third and won the most sportsmanlike team award in a girls' tournament last weekend in Penticton.

Seaton defeated London, of Richmond, 56-50; lost 52-45 to Princess Margaret, of Penticton; and downed Colquitz, of Coquitlam, 63-52.

Lynn Zwarych, of Sonnettes, collected 88 points in the three games. She sunk 35 against London, 20 in a losing cause, and 33 in the consolation final.

Sharon Weltzel, who scored 14 points against PM, Rhelsa Fermets, and Debbie Zinz also performed well for the Vernon squad.

Frenchmen dump Vernon

LUMBY — Lumby Flying Frenchmen beat Vernon 10-5 in an oldtimers' hockey game last weekend as part of the Lumby Snofest celebrations.

The teams were tied 2-2 at the end of the first period. However, the much younger Lumby squad skated away from their rivals in the second period and led 7-5 after 40 minutes.

Mike Irmen led the Lumby attack with three goals while Cam Hanna added a pair. Singles went to Gord Catt, Pete Vlasveld, Ernie Robatzek, Russ Heddington, and Willy Bevan.

For the Vernon squad, which does not have any players under 35 years old, Ron Hutchinson was the offensive leader with two goals. Ted McDermid, Jim Moro, and Jack Howard collected solos.

Frenchmen took all three minor penalties assessed.

LUMBY BONSPIEL

The annual Men's Open Bonspiel, in conjunction with Lumby Snofest, was held last weekend in the new White Valley Sports Centre. Above, the Paul Mamchur rink of Kelowna won the 'A' event. From left are, Mamchur, third Vern Golbeck, second Jerry Foord, and lead Don Robertson. 'B' event winners, below, were skip Dennis Mori, third Lynn Maloney, second Joe Gallagher, and lead Dick File, from Vernon. Lower photo, another Vernon foursome comprised of skip Wally Tutkaluk, third Norm Brown, second Kent Burt, and lead Terry Konopadi won the 'C' event.
