THIRD GAME SUNDAY

North Stars confident

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (CP) — Minnesota North Stars are back in familiar territory, more than pleased with their accomplishments earlier this week in Calgary.

The North Stars gained a split with Calgary Flames in the opening two games of their National Hockey League semifinal series and will have home-ice advantage in the third game Sunday in the best-of-seven affair.

"We'll make up for the one loss in our rink," said rookie centre Kevin Maxwell of the North Stars. "We went to Calgary to get a split and that's what happened.

"There's no reason to feel shabby about the split — they were just hanging on at the end of the second game. We took the play to them and that's an encouraging sign."

The North Stars won their sixth straight road playoff game, 4-1 in Tuesday's opener, before dropping a 3-2 decision Thursday.

UNDERESTIMATED FLAMES

"Calgary knew it had to win the second game," Minnesota coach Glen Sonmor said Friday. "Maybe we didn't figure on the lengths they'd go to get it.

"Even though we lost the second game, there were a lot of encouraging signs for us the last two periods. We didn't quit skating and they were hanging on at the end."

Sonmor and the North Stars are concerned about the health of centre Tim Young, injured in game two after being the individual standout in the opener.

Young spent Friday in hospital having his right knee examined after the joint locked early in the third period. It's an injury which goes back eight years to junior hockey.

FACES TESTS

Young was to undergo further tests today to determine whether he can play Sunday.

Flames centre Guy Chouinard, who scored in the second game, said Calgary had to win its second home game in the series, or face the possibility of early elimination from the Minnesota series.

"It was very clear the way we'd have to do it," said Chouinard. "Minnesota has a fast-skating team, one of the league's best.

"If you let them skate free, you know what happens. You can't try and place catch-up hockey with the North Stars."

Both clubs are expected to stick with their goaltenders in the third game. Gilles Meloche of the North Stars was brilliant in the opener and Pat Riggin of the Flames was even more spectacular in game two.

Boston evens series at 3-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robert Parish called it poise. Cedric Maxwell said it was a combination of drive, determination and character. M.L. Carr talked about intensity. Larry Bird spoke about not knowing when to quit.

Whatever it is, these Boston Celtics are clearly something special, and they showed it again Friday night by storming back in the second half to beat Philadelphia 76ers 100-98, sending their emotion-charged National Basketball Association playoff showdown back to Boston Garden for a deciding seventh game Sunday.

"The Garden is going to be rocking," said Celtics rookie Kevin McHale, whose block of an Andrew Toney shot with 14 seconds left helped preserve Boston's victory. "We stuck it out and we didn't quit.

"I've never been involved in a more joyous occasion."

As they have in each of the last four games of this best-of-seven Eastern Conference final, the 76ers raced out to a big early lead only to see the gritty Celtics claw their way back. Philadelphia led by 17 in the second quarter and 15 early in the third, but Bird scored 11 points as Boston outscored the 76ers 28-14 to climb back to 71-70 late in the third.

After that it was tight all the way. The lead changed hands nine times in the final 7:34, Nate Archibald finally putting the Celtics ahead to stay 96-95 by sinking two free throws with 2:16 left. Lionel Hollins and Darryl Dawkins missed shots for Philadelphia before Bird hit an 18-footer for a three-point lead.

It wasn't quite [illegible] Maxwell was fouled with two seconds left and made both free throws for a 100-97 lead, but the 76ers still had a shot at a tie with a three-point goal. But before Erving could get a shot off he was fouled by Archibald.

Victoria nips Calgary in junior hockey final

VICTORIA (CP) — Victoria Cougars scored twice in the last two minutes to defeat Calgary Wranglers 4-2 Friday night in the seventh and deciding game of the Western Hockey League final.

Cougars will represent the WHL in the Memorial Cup playoff which starts Sunday in Windsor, Ont.

Terry Sydoryk scored the winning goal at 18:07 of the third period and Grant Rezansoff added an insurance goal into an empty net at 19:49.

Torrie Robertson and Bud McCarthy also scored for the Cougars, who led 2-1 after 40 minutes. The first period was scoreless.

Greg Chudiak and Bill Hobbins scored for the Wranglers, who held the better of the play in the first period and exerted pressure for most of the final 20 minutes.

Grant Fuhr made 33 saves in the Victoria net while Mike Vernon blocked 32 for Calgary.
