Sports Roundup — by Ian Macfarlane

With both teams aiming for sole possession of the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League's number one position, tonight's all-important game takes on the dimensions of a playoff battle. Last time these perennial rivals clashed here, Vernon walked off with a comfortable 6-1 victory, but in the overall exchanges this season Jack O'Reilly's Packers hold a convincing 4-1 edge in wins. Providing business commitments don't prove otherwise, Kelowna will have bustling right-winger Russ Kowalchuk back in the affray after his six-game suspension. A doubtful starter is homebrew Warren Hicks who has been forced to the sidelines because of the current transfer fee feud between Kelowna and Trail. . . . Looking over the local roster, coach George Agar is sticking to the team which floored Penticton Vees here Tuesday. Nobody needs to remind George about the importance of tonight's tilt, and with O'Reilly holding the same trend of thought it all shapes up to be a real Jim Dandy. . . . The Blues hit the road for Kamloops Saturday night hoping to maintain their 100 percent superiority over the third-slot Chiefs this season. . . . Coach-manager Agar reports a slump of 1,000 paid fans in the first seven home games of this season compared to the same spell last term. This in dollars and cents means $1,200 less in the kitty.
